To Whom it May Concern:

The School of Education at Andrews University and Teaching Channel have a partnership to offer courses for teachers at the graduate level for their continuing education needs. These courses have been approved and vetted through our faculty here at Andrews University.

The courses that we offer through this partnership can be petitioned as part of their electives into a degree program if the student decides to pursue higher education at Andrews University. Once a student completes a course their grade will show as graduate level credit on an official Andrews University transcript. We are compliant with NC-SARA; National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements and are listed as one of the universities that comply.

Andrews University is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and a member of the North Central Association, www.ncahlc.org. Andrews University's School of Education is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education. Our Teacher Preparation Programs are ranked as one of the best in the state of Michigan according to the Michigan Board of Education.

The courses offered with Andrews University and Teaching Channel can be found on our web page at www.andrews.edu/ceis/cce.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us at odl@andrews.edu or 1-800-471-6210 option 1.
